Leadership in Nonprofit Organizations Authored by: Barry Dym and Harry Hutson

"This is an extraordinarily impressive book. It possesses several quite significant strengths that together hold the promise of making this book a citation classic. I believe it will be the standard against which other books about the leadership of nonprofit organizations will be judged."

— Richard M. Lerner, Bergstrom Chair in Applied Developmental Science, Tufts University

SAGE is proud to announce the publication of Leadership in Nonprofit Organizations. This groundbreaking book, combining theory, case study, and practical suggestion, shows how effective leadership in all enterprise requires the alignment of organizations, the communities or markets they serve—and the leaders themselves.

Features and Benefits:

- Critical review of literature on leadership that encourages diversity in leadership models and approaches
- Includes case studies of nonprofit leadership that affirm public-minded, mission-driven leaders and acknowledge their contributions
- Contains chapters on leadership constructs such as fit, dynamics, readiness, and flow that provide useful insights and methods to enable success
- Reframes leadership as an active process where the awareness of and response to the interplay of multiple, relevant factors matters more than charisma, pedigree, or power

Barry Dym is an organization development consultant, executive coach, psychotherapist, and entrepreneur. His clients range from small nonprofits, high tech start up companies, and both public and private school systems to large corporations.
